

The Oldest Quilter in the World

Note: Carl Quiltman does not write standard quilt mystery fiction. He writes cross-genre short stories that usually contain a spiritual element, with a touch of absurdist humor. They will always sell for 99 cents.---- ---- ---- ---- Bill found a quilt that someone had thrown into a dumpster at his apartment complex. Joy, his friend at the apartments, loved quilts, so he gave it to her. This beautiful Medallion quilt had a label on the backing, which read: 1875 Isabel Mokat. That little bit of information sewn on the label led Joy and Bill on an adventure of discovery beyond anything they could ever have imagined. A metaphysical journey into spiritual truth... revealed by a most unlikely source.
