

From Sea to Sea, and Other Sketches, Letters of Travel, Vol. 4 of 4 (Classic Reprint)

Jan.F eb., 1888 CHAPTER I A Real Live City TXT THE are all backwoodsmen and barbarians A together we others dwe Uing beyond the Ditch, in the outer darkness of the Mofussil There are no such things as Com missioners and heads of departments in the worlds and there is only one city in India. Bombay is too green, too pretty, and too stragglesome; and Madras died ever so long ago. Let us take off our hats to Calcutta, the many-sided, the smoky, the magnificent, as we drive in over the Hughli Bridge in the dawn of a still February morning. We have left India behind us at Howrah Station, and now we enter foreign parts. No, not wholly foreign. Say rather too familiar.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
