

Thoughts of the Day: The Book: A Collection of Insights for the Soul

We go beyond the conditioned limitations of a fragile, reactive egoic mind; beyond the stubbornness and fear of what we think we already know. At the point where the unknown becomes our friend, a transformation begins to occur. We feel a heartfelt sincerity that the wonderful is not only possible, but well on its way. Things beyond what we dream of suddenly begin to appear in our lives. This is not a book about answers. Each of us already has those inside. This is a book that offers insights into the deeper lessons of both golf and life. As we master our inner journeys, things outside of us fall effortlessly into place. We come to observe and (k)now - we know in the Now - the intimate connection between these two beautiful games; the essence of which are one in the same. Spirit of Golf Thoughts of the Day are read in emails and on our website by thousands throughout the world every day. Our intent in offering these thoughts, for which there is no charge, is to share with seekers of the inner game insights as they relate to both golf and life. A full listing of what we offer, including seminars, workshops, clinics, books and audio and video products, is available through our website.
